

Richard Green is Professor of Sustainable Energy Business at Imperial College London and Head of the Department of Management. He is an economist and was previously Professor of Energy Economics and Director of the Institute for Energy Research and Policy at the University of Birmingham.